DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claims 1-4, 13 (in part), drawn to compounds and compositions of formula I in which R4 is a heterocycle, classified in classes 540, 544, 546 depending on species.

Group II, claims 1-4, 13 (in part), drawn to compounds and compositions of formula I not covered by the above group, classified in classes 540, 544, 546 depending on species.

Group III, claims 14-18, drawn to a method of modulating protein kinases and treating protein-kinase related disorders, classified in class 514, subclass various.

Group IV, claims 19, 21-28, drawn to a method of treating cancer in a mammal, classified in class 514, subclass various.

Group V, claim 20, drawn to a method of treating retinal vascularization, classified in class 514, subclass various.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted. The claims herein lack unity of invention under PCT Rule 13.1 and 13.2 because, under 37 CFR 1.475(a),

Where a group of inventions is claimed in an application, the requirement of unity of invention shall be fulfilled only when there is a technical feature among those inventions involving one or more of the same or corresponding special technical features...those technical features that define a contribution which each of the claimed inventions, considered as a whole, makes over the prior art.

The structural moiety common to the groups is and it is not a special technical feature as it fails to make a contribution over the prior art (US 4332810). Therefore, the groups are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept and there is a lack of unity of invention. The variables vary extensively and when taken as a whole result in vastly different compounds. Additionally, the vastness of the claimed subject matter and complications in understanding the claimed subject matter impose a serious burden on any examination of the claimed subject matter.

Because the claims do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT rule 13.1 and lack the same or corresponding special technical features, the claims lack unity of invention and should be limited to a product, a process for manufacture of said product, or a method of use.

Furthermore, with respect to Groups I-V, even if unity of invention under 37 CFR 1.475(a) is not lacking, under 37 CFR 1.47(b) a national stage application containing claims to different categories of invention will be considered to have unity of invention if the claims are drawn only to one of the following combinations:

- (1) A product and a process specially adapted for the manufacture of said product; or
- (2) A product and process of use of said product; or
- (3) A product, a process specially adapted for the manufacture of said product, and a use of the said product; or
- (4) A process and an apparatus or means specially designed for carrying out the said process; or

Art Unit: 1625

- (5) A product, a process specially adapted for the manufacture of the said product, and an apparatus or means specially designed for carrying out the said process.

Moreover, according to 37 CFR 1.475(c),

If an application contains claims to more or less than one of the combinations of categories set forth in paragraph (b), unity of invention might not be present.

In the instant case the claims are drawn to more than a product and a method of use, and according to 37 CFR 1.475(e),

The determination whether a group of inventions is so linked as to form a single general inventive concept shall be made without regard to whether the inventions are claimed in separate claims or as alternatives within a single claim.

As a result, the claims lack unity of invention and applicant is required to elect a single invention.

The claims directed to a single method of use will be examined along with the elected invention so long as it is commensurate in scope therewith.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
